Public access to research notes

You and the author will be free to indefinitely use the research note for your own and organisational purposes. Regarding the other research notes, all research notes will remain publicly accessible for three months after their release, with a minimum of 10 publicly accessible research notes.

Access for ERNOP (associated) members, supporters and partners

Afterwards, ERNOP will make the research notes available to its (associated) members, institutional supporters and societal partners. You will be granted (associated) individual membership for one year after your research note has been published.

Publication frequency

We aim to release new ERNOP Research Notes on a monthly basis.

Practitioner experts list

All contributors that have delivered a Research Note will be listed as practitioner experts on the ERNOP website for one year. You can always indicate not to be listed as a practitioner expert. The practitioner expert list will be renewed on a quarterly basis.

Promotion

We will publish the individual research note on the ERNOP website on a separate page and announce the publication through our, your, and authors' Linked In channels.

The notes are promoted by Philea, European Fundraising Association, Centre for European Volunteering and European Venture Philanthropy Association.
